

ICOMON e-PROCEEDINGS

Managing Editor's Report – September 2009

The Editorial Committee met in Utrecht immediately following the ICOMON meeting and selected those papers for which submission would be invited. The Committee also resolved to expand the pool of referees through the appointment of Associate Editors. This has the advantage of spreading the refereeing load, grooming future Editorial Board members, and giving experience to the younger members.

Following refereeing (two referees for each paper), seven papers from the Utrecht meeting now appear at the ICOMON website along with their separate ICOMON covers, which include the bibliographic details and provide advertising for ICOMON. I am grateful to the Associate Editors for the work that they have put into these papers.
